A month ago, on March 19, President Joyce McConnell announced that all Colorado State University operations were moving to online and virtual services. This includes all learning and teaching, with only those employees performing essential in-person jobs now on campus through the end of spring semester.

That means that CSU Life readers can’t look for the printed version of the April edition in their campus mailboxes. So, we’ve decided to follow the lead of the rest of the University and publish all our content only on the online platform of our SOURCE page.

In addition to the regular monthly features from APC, CPC, the Kendall Reagan Nutrition Center, and other campus experts on health, wellness and sustainability, and feature stories from CSU Life staff, this edition includes links to HR, Commitment to Campus and the University Calendar in the main navigation bar to help you stay up-to-date on what you need to know about CSU policies and procedures as they evolve. And Campus Trivia without Russ Schumacher has an extended deadline for submissions.

To read about some of the great research, creativity and outreach happening at CSU during these unprecedented times, go to the University SOURCE homepage.

For the latest information about the University’s response to this global pandemic, go to safety.colostate.edu/coronavirus

Enjoy this issue, and stay well.

Kate

KATE HAWTHORNE JERACKI
Executive Editor and Content Manager | Internal Communications

301 Administration | 0150 Campus Delivery
Fort Collins, Colorado 80523-6025
P: 970.491.2658
C: 970.980.3678
@KateJeracki

The Public Relations team is trying to do our part and will be working remotely during these unusual times. Feel free to call my cell phone if you need assistance.