Artist Statement:

“A picture is worth a thousand words” has always been an inspiration for me and my work. Through my work, I have shown different portrayals of the human being and tried to combine materialistic things and the surrounding environment in these images. I used my digital camera, some lighting techniques as well as creating new poses and angles to capture the image I was hoping for. There is no right or wrong answer to my work, it's whatever the audience wants it to be.
